

6TH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF DIALECTOLOGY AND SOCIOLINGUISTICS - VI CIDS

November 7-10, 2022

Campo Grande, Mato Grosso do Sul, Brazil

FIRST CIRCULAR

Considering the world's situation concerning the Coronavirus pandemic (Covid-19) and the positive perspectives due to the vaccination process and the safety protocols implemented by health agencies, the Organizing Committee of the 6th International Conference of Dialectology and Sociolinguistics, which would have taken place from October 13 -16, 2020, deliberated on the event to be held from November 7 - 10, 2022, at the Federal University of Mato Grosso do Sul, Campo Grande, Mato Grosso do Sul - Brazil.

We inform that the 6th CIDS theme will be Linguistic Variation: intercultural contacts, research and teaching and it will be held virtually with some in-person activities. The 6th edition of CIDS, as with past events, aims to promote discussions and experience exchange at the international level among researchers, professors and students who work in the field of Dialectology and Sociolinguistics. The event will embrace topics related to linguistic variation from different perspectives, among them, those stemming from border situations and other intercultural contacts which represent challenges for research and teaching.

Following the event tradition, the 6th CIDS will pay homage to two prominent researchers in recognition for their nationally and internationally recognized invaluable contribution to the field of dialectological and sociolinguistic studies: Prof. João Antonio das Pedras Saramago, researcher at the Linguistics Center of Lisbon University, Portugal and Prof. Dinah Maria Isensee Callou, professor and researcher at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

The 6th CIDS program will feature conferences, roundtable sessions, oral and poster presentations, brief courses, book and magazine releases, and artistic and cultural activities. Paper submissions will be accepted specifically for Dialectology and Sociolinguistics fields, as well as proposals related to the event theme.

The 6th International Conference of Dialectology and Sociolinguistics (VI CIDS) is promoted by the Federal University of Mato Grosso do Sul in partnership with other higher education institutions from Mato Grosso do Sul- the Federal University of Grande Dourados, Federal Institute of Mato Grosso do Sul, Federal University of Bahia, Federal University of Pará, Federal University of Maranhão, Federal University of Santa Catarina, University of Brasília, Federal Rural University of Pernambuco and State University of Londrina.

Soon, in the second circular, new information about the event will be provided, specifically concerning the registration system, which is expected to start in May, 2022.

Stay tuned for our event website!

We ask that you spread the word about the VI CIDS as much as possible!
